

GDPR Privacy Policy & Compliance

The use of the electronic pages and services provided to the visitor / user, by the website myinsurancechoice.gr owned by "COMPANY DETAILS" hereinafter "the company", presupposes the your unconditional agreement with its Privacy Policy of this site. Therefore, the visitor / user must carefully read the contents of this page, before using the services of our website. If he does not agree, he should abandon it and NOT make any use of its services and content. This privacy policy may change from time to time depending on legislation or industry developments. We will not explicitly notify our customers or users of our website of these changes. Instead, we encourage you to periodically check this page for any changes to this privacy policy. The continued use of the myinsurancechoice.gr website even after any changes in the Privacy Policy, means the unconditional acceptance of these terms by you.

Privacy

We collect and process your personal data only when absolutely necessary. We will never sell, rent, distribute, or disclose your personal information in any way. If you are under 16, you MUST have your parents' consent before using the services on this site.

Relevant legislation

In addition to our company's internal IT systems, this website is designed to comply with the following laws / regulations regarding the protection of users' personal data: 1. EU Data Protection Directive 1995 (DPD). 2. EU General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) 2018. Personal information collected by this site and why we collect it. This site collects and uses personal information for the following reasons:

Website Traffic Monitoring

Like most websites, it uses Google Analytics (GA) to track user activity. We use this data to determine the number of people who use our site, to better understand how they find and use our web pages and to see their progress within the site. Although GA records data such as your geographical location, your device, your web browser and your operating system, none of this information is made personally known to us. The GA also records the IP address of your computer, which could be used to identify you, but Google does not give us access to it. We believe that Google is a third party data processing provider that complies with its requirements

European legislation.

Contact forms and email links If you choose to contact us using a contact form or an email link, none of the data you provide will be stored on this website or transferred or processed by any third party data processing provider as defined below. in the section "Our third party data processors". Instead, this data will be emailed to us via the Simple Mail Transfer Protocol (SMTP). Our SMTP servers are protected by a TLS security protocol (sometimes known as SSL), which means that e-mail content is encrypted before being sent over the Internet. The contents of the email are decrypted by our local computers and devices.